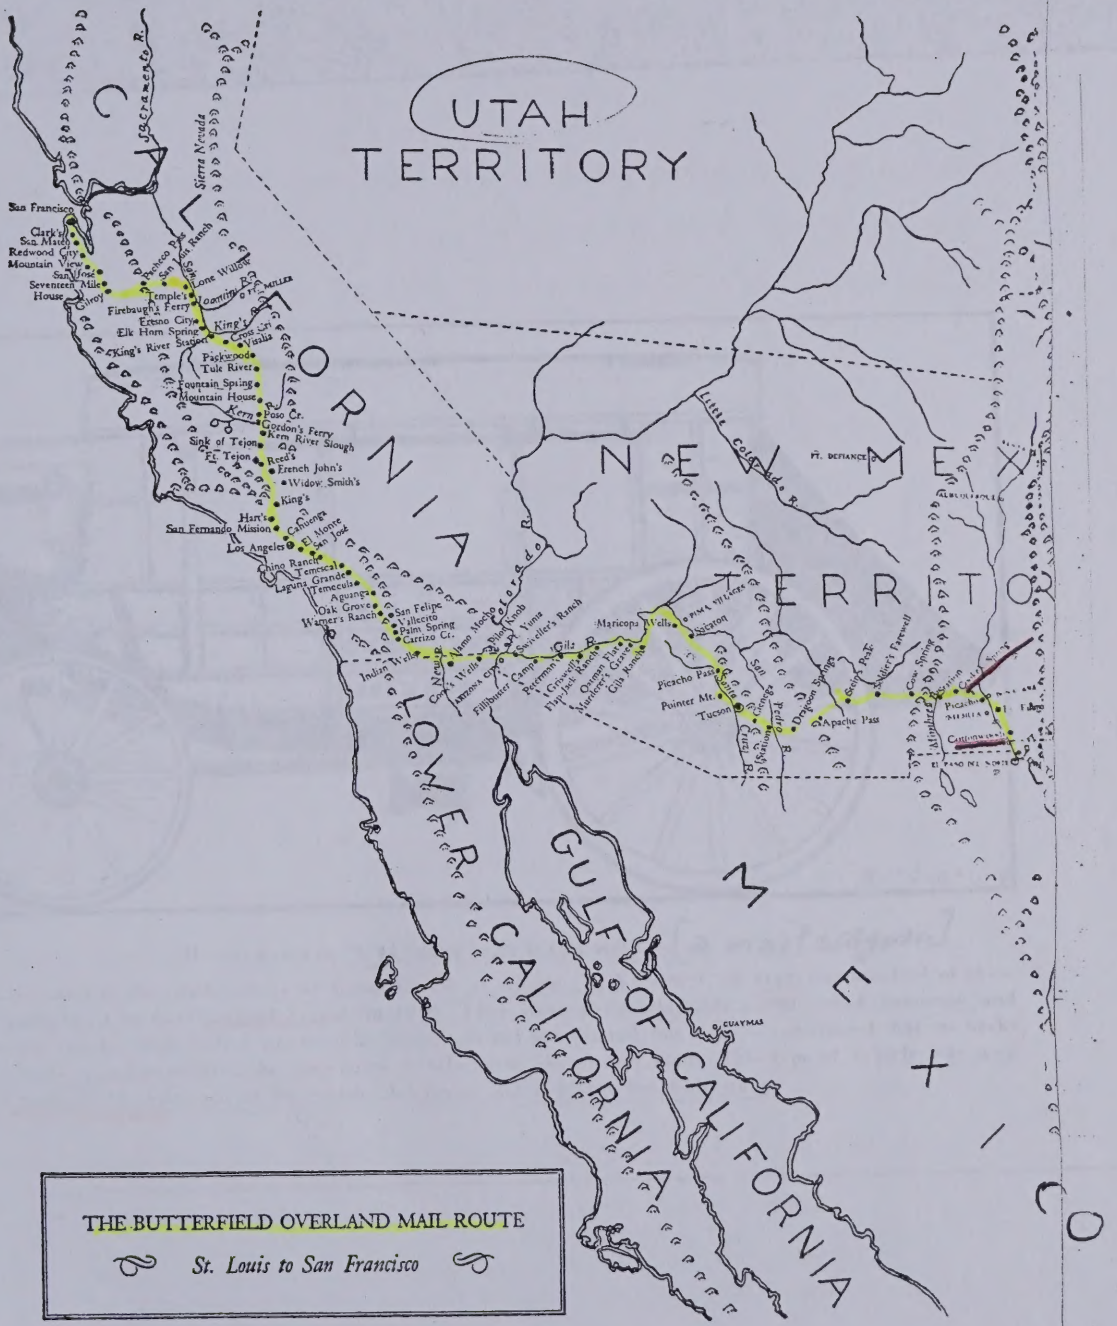
PLAT OF THE SITE OF COOKE'S SPRING STATION AND VICINITY
LUNA COUNTY, NEW MEXICO.
In Township 21; Range 8; Section 23.

Ruins of two stations are to be seen here. The smaller is that of the Butterfield Station constructed in October, 1858, and destroyed by Indians in 1861. The larger ruin is that of the station built by Kearns and Mitchell, in 1872. The spring has been walled and now supplies the Santa Fé Railroad tank at Florida, five miles east.

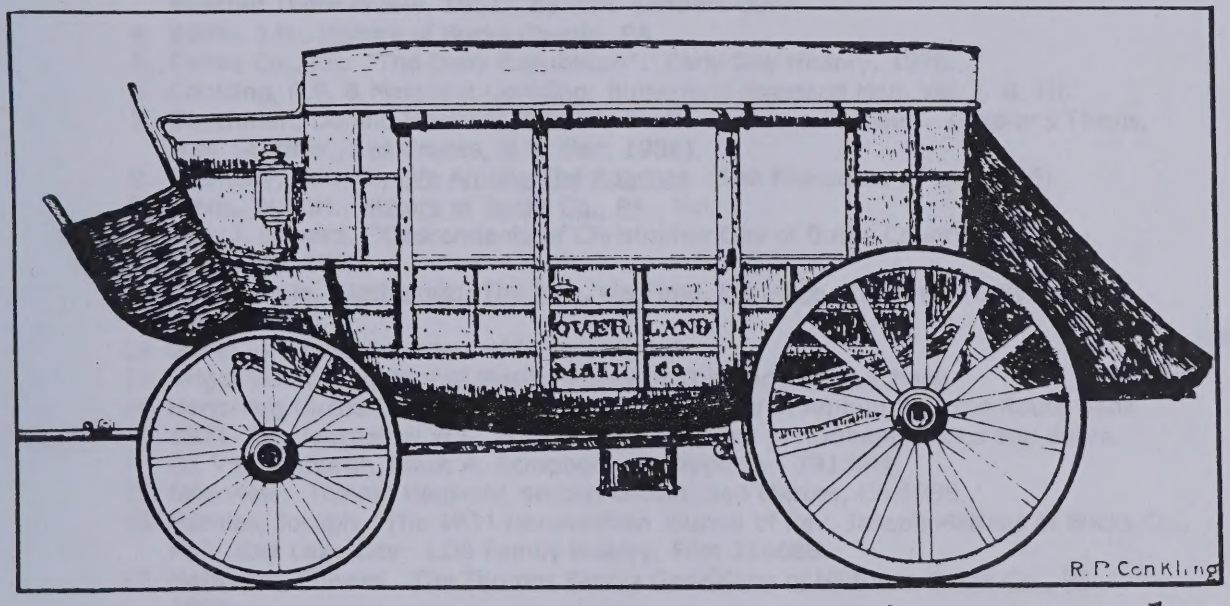


THE BUTTERFIELD OVERLAND MAIL ROUTE

St. Louis to San Francisco

UTAH
TERRITORY

PLATE 14



BUTTERFIELD "CELERITY" STAGE-WAGON [a mail wagon]

This vehicle was designed in the coach factory of James Goold, at Albany, N. Y., where, in 1857, one hundred of these wagons were built and placed in the Overland Service in 1858. They were more adaptable to the rough mountain and desert country than the regular high bodied coach. The seats were not upholstered, but were so constructed that the backs could be lowered to make a bed permitting the passengers to take turns sleeping at night. This type of vehicle was used exclusively between Springfield, Missouri, or Ft. Smith, Arkansas, and Los Angeles, California.

And the said John Davis and Abel Griffith did also sign a declaration of trust to John Bartholomew, David Evans, Thomas Edmunds, and John Marks, showing that the said deed was made by them in trust only for the use of the Baptist church now meeting in house erected on said land. Said deed was delivered into custody of Thomas Edmunds till said church shall call for said writings.

Thomas Edmunds left the church £200. He had been a member, but was dismissed to Welsh Tract. He died in July, 1758. The money was held by trustees, Abel Griffith and Joseph Griffith, who paid annually to the church £12 interest, down to 1779. Then it was all paid in. At a business meeting held May 9, 1779, it was agreed to put the money in the Continental Loan Office, together with £10 left the church by William James, of New Britain.

1749, March 13—A deed dated this day was signed by Jenkin Evans, David Evans and John Bartholomew to Abel Griffith and John Davis, for one acre and sixty perches of land in Montgomery township, whereon the meeting house stands. And the said John Davis and Abel Griffith did also sign a declaration of trust to John Bartholomew, David Evans, Thomas Edmunds, and John Marks, showing that the said deed was made by them in trust only for the use of the Baptist church now meeting in house erected on said land. Said deed was delivered into custody of Thomas Edmunds till said church shall call for said writings.

Thomas Edmunds left the church £200. He had been a member, but was dismissed to Welsh Tract. He died in July, 1758. The money was held by trustees, Abel Griffith and Joseph Griffith, who paid annually to the church £12 interest, down to 1779. Then it was all paid in. At a business meeting held May 9, 1779, it was agreed to put the money in the Continental Loan Office, together with £10 left the church by William James, of New Britain.
